$8,200,000 PWA PROGRAM OF WORK BURGED ON MAYOR

Executive Board of Building Trades Council Pledges Support of Bond Issue for That Purpose.

MAYOR WILLING TO DISCUSS PLAN

Not Opposed to Bonds if They Do Not "Require Real Estate to Stand 90 Pct. of the Taxes."

A resolution demanding the submission of a bond issue at the earliest possible date for a $8,200,000 program of public improvements in St. Louis, with the aid of funds from the Federal Public Works Administration, was adopted unanimously today by the Executive Board of the Building Trades Council.

The board, declaring it "imperative" that St. Louis take full advantage of the President's public works program, called on Mayor Dickmann to apply immediately to the PWA for help in this program, "as well as for any other projects upon which work might begin at an early date."

Support of the proposed bond issue was pledged by the board, which represents about 20,000 construction workers. About 15,000 of these men are unemployed, the resolution stated, adding they are demanding work instead of charity.

A committee of the board, appointed to present the demand to Mayor Dickmann in person, consists of Robert J. Lee, president of the council; John J. Church, secretary; Harry Hagen, Thomas Quinn, George Rafferty and Otto P. List of Works Proposed.

The $8,200,000 program proposed by the Building Trades Council follows:

- Third street traffic way and approaches, $12,000,000.
- Addition to school buildings, $10,000,000.
- Improved traffic way, $7,700,000.
- New Postoffice, $5,000,000.
- Memorial Plaza development, $10,000,000.
- Art Museum enlargement, $2,000,000.
- New schools, $2,500,000.
- Railroad approaches to Municipal Bridge, $2,000,000.
- New police stations, $1,000,000.
- Wants City to Get Its Share.
- The resolution of the Executive Board, which consists of business and constituent unions of the Building Trades Council, said:

"On the basis of population, St. Louis has a share of Federal public funds which should be approximately $17,000,000. A public improvement program, initiated in the city now, in keeping with the purpose of the President's public works plan, would work to a great portion of our unemployed, with redounding benefit to the city at large. New York, numerous other municipalities, recognizing the opportunity afforded by the public works program to provide work for thousands of their citizens and to secure needed improvements, have secured grants from the PWA while St. Louis has not only failed to work the President's program but has failed in its obligation to employ them."

"To deplore this situation, the inaction, the lack of aggressiveness on the part of the Chamber of Commerce and other business and organizations, and the apparent effort on the part of some to stave off and block the initiation of public works program in St. Louis."

Wants Bonds Submitted.

St. Louis has sidestepped the issue with the excuse that the people do not vote a bond issue to pay the cost of the cost of a public works program, but this is only an assumption, and the people should be given an opportunity to vote on the question themselves. The time is short for the filing of applications with the PWA, and quick action is taken. St. Louis will not participate fully in the public works program, and our citizens will be required to pay for improvements in other parts of the city without receiving direct benefits from them."

The resolution listed applications by the city so far with the PWA, which $3,320,987 in grants and $1,750,000 in loans are asked for filling PWA applications before next Friday unless special permission is granted for delay. Numerous requests in anticipation of bond issues are accepted.

Members of the Building Trades Council called on Hugh Millard, engineer of the PWA, to meet to discuss the proposed program, and the wage situation. He told them there was nothing about wages if there was lack of work. The council's decision to advocate a big construction program followed.

Mayor Dickmann said he was willing to discuss the labor leaders' proposal with their representatives and is not opposed to a bond issue "that does not require real estate to stand 90 percent of the taxes." The Mayor said he had proposed improvements costing $15,000,000 to be financed out of Public Works funds and municipal funds, without additional tax assessment. He said he was hopeful the Building Trades Council delegation would have a plan to submit that did not call for taxation of real estate, adding that he would stand on his position as opposed to any proposal placing a further burden on owners of property.

Mayor Dickmann has suggested a bond issue might be submitted next year calling for several million dollars for miscellaneous improvements. He is advocating a $2,000,000 undertaking for the rail approaches of the bridge, on a PWA loan to be repaid from railroad tolls. The administration has virtually abandoned the Third street highway scheme.

The Board of Education has committed itself to proposing a $2,000,000 bond issue, to be augmented by a PWA grant of about $500,000, for three new schools, additions to several schools and remodeling. The Government has proposed a new Post Office to cost nearly $5,000,000 in PWA funds but action on this has been delayed by officials at Washington. The municipal improvements included in the Building Trades Council program amount to $42,700,000. A city bond issue would be for about three-fourths of that amount, as PWA grants would be expected for 30 percent of the cost of labor and materials.

MAN, 70, HANDLING PISTOL, SHOOTS HIMSELF FATALLY

Ell Ward, 1210 Wright Street, Wounded Himself Accidentally, Wife and Son Think.

Ell Ward, 70 years old, 1210 Wright street, died last night at City Hospital of a self-inflicted bullet wound of the head.

Ward shot himself behind the right ear shortly before noon yesterday. His wife told police he had been examining a revolver. When she warned him to use care in handling the weapon he laughed and said the revolver was broken, Mrs. Ward told police. She was in the kitchen a short time later when she heard a shot and found her husband wounded in a chair with the revolver at his feet.

Mrs. Ward and a son, Edward, expressed the belief that the shooting was accidental. Ward was a mover.

UNION CARPENTERS TO WORK 5 DAYS OF 6 HOURS WEEKLY

Vote to Make Change to Give More Employment to Idle.

Effective April 1, union carpenters in St. Louis will work a 30-hour week in an effort to distribute available work and relieve unemployment. Union leaders estimate that only 25 percent of the 20,000 building trades men in the city are employed at present.

The 30-hour week will be divided into five days of six working hours. Carpenters, paid $1.25 an hour, now work 40 hours a week, except those employed by the Board of Education, who for the last two years have had the six-hour day, five days a week. There are about 4800 union carpenters organized in five local unions.

HOTEL MEN VOTE TO STAY DRY TILL LEGISLATURE ACTS

Association Decides to Expel Members Violating Decision Not to Sell Till Sales Are Legal.

The St. Louis Hotel Association, comprising the management of 22 hotels, today announced its decision that the hotels should refrain from any attempt to sell liquor until the Missouri bone-dry law is repealed.

A resolution adopted at a meeting of the organization yesterday, and made public by the secretary J. A. Hadley, manager of Hotel Chase, says:

"The St. Louis Hotel Association believes that, regardless of the repeal of the prohibition law, the present State laws which prohibit the legal sale of liquor should be strictly observed."

"Copies of the resolution will be sent to the president of the Missouri Hotel Association, to the Kansas City organization, and to members of the Legislature. The resolution is signed by A. D. Gates of the Gateway Hotel, president of the organization, and the secretary."

The action of the hotel men, it was explained, applies to the dining rooms and all other public rooms of the hotels, as to dealings by the hotel managements. It does not place any new restrictions on guests, who for years have been permitted to "bring their own."

1000 Autos Stopped on Bridges but No Liquor Is Found

More than 1000 automobiles have been stopped on Mississippi River bridges since Saturday by Federal agents without the discovery of a single attempt to bring liquor from west Illinois to "bone-dry" Missouri.

The bridge watch followed public announcement by Ralph E. Herrick, acting investigator in charge of the Alcohol Revenue Unit of the Department of Justice, that he would use all available of his 31 men to patrol bridges pursuant to the Federal law guaranteeing protection against liquor shipments to states where dry laws have not been repealed.

Some motorists, detained while the investigators searched the cars, thought the search was being made by game wardens. Herrick said wide publicity given his announcement had tended to stop the reported flow of liquor from East St. Louis and other Illinois cities to St. Louis. The bridge patrol, however, will be continued.

The air show will include a dive bombing demonstration by three Navy planes, tactical maneuvers by the National Guard, torpedo plane flights by the Navy, demonstration of radio-directed plane and message pick-up, a parachute drop test and a mass formation flight of all Navy and National Guard planes.

Mayor Dickmann will make a radio broadcast from a plane to open the program. It will be the first broadcast using radio facilities at the airport.

Mrs. Jeane Newcomb, 20, Bride of 5 Months, and Troy Benson Lose Lives Near Benton, Ill.

Mrs. Jeane Newcomb, 4573 Audubon avenue, and Troy Benson of Taylorville, Ill., were killed Saturday night in a head-on collision of automobiles six miles north of Benton, Ill.

Mrs. Newcomb, who was 20 years old, was in a car driven by her husband, Richard Newcomb, 34, who was a coal miner.

Newcomb, his mother and his wife's mother, who were riding with him, were cut and bruised, and his brother, Claude, suffered a broken right leg. Claude Newcomb was taken to Barnes Hospital. The others went to their homes after receiving medical attention.

Claude Newcomb resides at 4117 Washington boulevard, with his mother, Mrs. Allie Newcomb. The other passengers, Mrs. William Reeves, mother of Mrs. Jeane Newcomb, lives at 2630 Brannon avenue. The funeral of Mrs. Newcomb will be held there Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

HOMICIDE VERDICT RETURNED

Coroner's Jury Investigates Death After Illegal Operation.

A coroner's verdict of homicide at the hands of unknown persons was returned today after an inquest in the death of Miss Caroline Kliene, 3741A Iowa avenue, who died of peritonitis Friday at the home of Mrs. Lena Lelendecker, 3451A Utah street.

An autopsy disclosed that an illegal operation had been performed. Mrs. Lelendecker, who was held under $5000 bond pending a grand jury investigation, testified that Miss Kliene came to her home for an examination and collapsed upon learning the result. She denied she had treated her at any time.

EXPLOSION AND FIRE WRECK GASOLINE FILLING STATION

Two Walls Blown Out After Gas Heater Is Lighted in Building.

An explosion, which occurred when a gas heater was turned on, blew out two walls of a gasoline filling station and warehouse of the Sinclair Oil Co., 1451 North Kingshighway, at 7 a. m. yesterday.

Lee Kane, who turned on the heater, and Joseph Fitzroy, another attendant, escaped from the building uninjured. Part of the roof collapsed and fire broke out, but the fire was quickly extinguished.

The explosion is thought to have been caused by gasoline fumes, which were ignited when the heater was turned on. Firemen estimated the damage at $1100.

HOUSING SITE CHOSEN FOR THE $600,000 PROJECT IN ST. LOUIS

Recreation dining and living room, with bed room, bath-toilet and separate balcony. With an additional bedroom, the rent will be $24 to $28 a month, and with still another bedroom $30 to $32. These rentals will include heat, water and gas for cooking.

The buildings composing the group will occupy 36 per cent of the ground space of the block, the rest being courtyard and playground space. The buildings, as to apartment space, will be three-story walk-up, and will have no basement except to contain the heating plants. Laundry and locker rooms will be on a fourth floor.

Recreation Features.

The block, since being cleared of most of the old buildings which stood on it, has been used as a playground by the Neighborhood Association. Recreation features included in the Neighborhood Gardens plan will be open not only to the tenants of the Gardens apartments, but to residents of the adjoining region. There will be a library, domestic science dining room and kitchen, auditorium and showers for boys and girls.

As previously announced, Neighborhood Gardens was planned as a business enterprise, not a charity. It will pay 4 per cent on the Federal loan of $600,000, which it is intended to amortize in 30 years, and it will pay the local investors up to 5 1/2 per cent. The Federal law permits a 6 per cent return, but the local group decided to make the rate 5 1/2. The undertaking is planned as a demonstration that private capital can profitably engage in furnishing better housing facilities. The present plan is for white families; later it is hoped to build a similar project for Negroes.

James Lee Johnson, an official of the International Shoe Co., is president of Neighborhood Gardens, Inc.; J. T. Pettus, Sam Plant and Bert H. Leach are vice-presidents. William T. Ravenscroft treasurer and Wolf secretary-manager. Others on the board of directors are George Oliver Carpenter Jr., David P. Wohl, Lewis S. Haslam and P. John Hoerner, architect.

The plans for the housing development were made by Hoerner. They were based on a study made by Wolf, in German and Austrian cities last year, of the large-scale housing developments there.

Wolf today pointed out that the plans assure a maximum of privacy to each tenant family. Each apartment has a separate private balcony, 25 or 30 feet distant from the balcony of any neighbor. This feature was one of those most approved by the inspecting Federal officials, Wolf said.

TRUSTIN B. BOYD DIES; MEN'S STORE FOUNDER

Succumbs at 79 in Los Angeles—Lived in California Last 10 Years.

Trustin Brown Boyd, 79 years old, founder of Boyd's, downtown men's furnishing store, died today of infirmities of age, in Los Angeles. He had lived in California for the last 10 years.

Mr. Boyd was born in Indianapolis on Christmas Day, 1853, and was employed there as a railroad freight clerk and cashier, before coming to St. Louis in 1876. He entered the employ of Wilson Bros., men's furnishing store, and after a year, acquired an interest in the firm.

In 1884 he became owner of the Wilson concern, and changed the name to T. B. Boyd Furnishing Goods Co. He was active head of the company until 1903, and thereafter was for 20 years chairman of the directors, until his removal to California. His son, Ingram F. Boyd, succeeded him as head of the business, which is now Boyd-Richardson Men's Apparel Co., 600 Olive street.

While living in St. Louis, and after his removal to California, Mr. Boyd was known for his interest in golf, and for his careful and correct manner of dressing. In business, he displayed as his personal and firm motto the couplet, "Just and Fair, Always on the Square."

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ada Boyd, and two sons, David M. and Ingram F. Boyd. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

PAROLE IS RECOMMENDED FOR FORMER ZOO EMPLOYEE

Petition Signed by Jurors Who Convicted Him Under the Henry Law.

Parole for John Bacigalupo, former Forest Park Zoo employee, is asked in a petition filed in Circuit Judge Hoffmeister's Court today by the jurors who on Nov. 22 found him guilty of assault to rob and fixed his punishment at two years in the penitentiary.

The jurors, all of whom signed the petition, ask for clemency on the basis of Bacigalupo's former good reputation, pointing out that the mere conviction was "serious punishment."

Bacigalupo, who is 32 years old and resides at 4651 Alexander street, is out on bond pending action on a motion for a new trial. He and Philip Rost, another former Zoo employee awaiting trial, were charged with robbery under the Henry law in connection with the holdup of Henry Thele, 4640 Ray avenue, on Oct. 19, 1932. Bacigalupo's defense was that he had been drinking and did not know what he was doing the night of the hold-up.

Bacigalupo was arrested last February upon Lester Tilton, convicted of practicing medicine at his "cancer college" without a license. He was also fined $2000. The Court also sustained the conviction of his promoter, Harry de Joannis, whose punishment was to be the same.

WOMAN BOUND, GAGGED BY ROBBERS IN HOME

Police Find Mrs. Myrtle Satterfield Tied to Wall Hooks in Closet.

Mrs. Myrtle Satterfield, 37 years old, was bound and gagged Saturday night at her home, 2648A McHair avenue, by two Negroes, who took $1.70 and articles valued at about $40.

Police were called to the house at 10:30 o'clock by a young woman residing there, who said she had found the doors locked and was unable to get an answer from Mrs. Satterfield. An officer, after climbing through a transom, discovered Mrs. Satterfield in a closet. Her wrists were tied behind her back with a rope attached to hooks on the wall. She fainted as the policeman released her.

On being revived, she said the Negroes came to the back door at 8 o'clock, one of them giving the name of an acquaintance. As she opened the door, one robber drew a revolver. The holdup man asked where her money was, obtained $1.70 and demanded to know what had become of "all the money your husband had today." When she said she knew nothing about any such amount, she was kicked, told to pull down the shades and bound hand and foot. A cloth was stuffed in her mouth as she was put into the closet. Taking two rings from her fingers, the robbers ransacked the flat but obtained only minor articles of jewelry and several fountain pens.

Mrs. Satterfield's husband, William, maintenance man for a downtown department store, was at work at the time. He told police he had not had any large amount of money. One robber was masked and one wore a false mustache, Mrs. Satterfield said.

CORNERSTONE LAID FOR $2,280,000 NEGRO HOSPITAL

Mayor Says 'No Achievement of Administration Gives Me More Pleasure.'

Several thousand persons, mostly Negroes, witnessed the laying of the cornerstone of Homer G. Phillips Hospital, the city's new $2,280,000 hospital for Negroes, yesterday afternoon.

The institution faces Whittier street, between St. Ferdinand and Kennerly avenues. A principal purpose of the bond issue voted Nov. 21 was to furnish funds to complete it. Construction started 18 months ago.

Mayor Dickmann, who led the movement for the bonds, used a silver trowel in laying the cornerstone, at the end of a long program, as the assemblage applauded. He said: "As far as I am able, no expense shall be spared to make this institution the outstanding Negro hospital in this country. It shall contain the most modern equipment obtainable."

Medical Staff of Negroes. The medical staff, as at the present hospital, will consist of Negroes, the Mayor announced. No achievement of his administration can give him greater pleasure than completion of the hospital, he declared, expressing gratification that the "first significant act" of the people after his election was passage of the bond issue. Calling attention to the fact that there were more votes cast and a greater favorable majority in the recent election than in the election of 1932, when $87,372,500 in bonds were voted, he said there was a more unanimous opinion and greater civic spirit shown in the hospital bond issue than in any previous election.

Mayor Dickmann took occasion to condemn lynching, mentioning the recent case at St. Joseph, Mo., and to describe the progress of economic recovery under President Roosevelt's program.

The speakers' stand was on a second floor balcony of the administration building, the framework of which has been erected. Chrysanthemums decorated it. The bands, one of Negroes and one of whites, played. Civic and political leaders, both whites and Negroes, attended.

Phillips' Widow Speaks. An invocation was delivered by the Rev. Jonathan A. Dames, pastor of St. James A. M. E. Church. Among the speakers was Mrs. Homer G. Phillips, widow of the Negro lawyer and leader for whom the hospital is named. Other speakers included Dean Numa P. G. Adams of Howard University medical school; Dr. R. Emmet Kane, Frank L. Williams, head of Vashon High School; Dr. Oral S. McClellan, superintendent of the present Negro hospital; President Neun of the Board of Aldermen; City Counselor Hay, W. D. Walton of the Summer High School faculty; and W. S. Quinland, director of medicine at Meharry College, Nashville, Tenn.

City Hospital No. 2, Garrison avenue and Lawton boulevard, where Negroes are cared for now, is inadequate and unsafe: Last spring many patients were removed from it to the old St. Mary's Infirmary, 1836 Papin street. Following the cornerstone laying yesterday, the Sisters of St. Mary held a ceremony at the infirmary, dedicating it as a from Phillips Hospital to the infirmary for this ceremony.

Sam's wife, who had quarreled with him and had been staying at Charles' home, was in the house at the time, police were told. The slain man resided at 2111 Kansas avenue.

PASTORS URGE CURTAILMENT OF CHURCH TAX EXEMPTION

Three New York Clergymen Tell Legislature That Privilege Has Been Abused.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Three prominent clergymen in letters to State legislators yesterday asked for reduction of "the excessive privilege of tax exemption now granted to churches, synagogues and other welfare organizations."

John Haynes Holmes of the Community Church, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Bishop Francis J. Connolly signed the letter, pointing out that under present laws $4,689,803.389 of church property in New York City is tax exempt.

"As churchmen," the letter said, "we feel that the special economic privileges of the church in the field of tax exemption have been abused and that they should be curtailed."

MINISTER KILLS MAN
ATTENTIVE TO HIS WIFE

Former Fort Worth Mission
Worker Had Been Ejected
by His Victim.

By The Associated Press.
FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 11.—
The Rev. C. C. Reneau, a former mission worker, was held today on a murder charge for the killing of W. N. Shaw, 42 years old. Officers quoted him as saying he fired in defense of himself and his home.
The Rev. Mr. Reneau, 34, told officers he was suspicious of Shaw's attentions to Mrs. Reneau, 28, and the wife corroborated her husband's story of being threatened by Shaw. She said the two men had quarreled and she knew her husband was jealous of the man in whose home they had lived several weeks, keeping house for him, while both men were employed under the Civil Works program. There are three Reneau children.
After his alleged ejection from the home Friday by Shaw, Reneau told officers he bought a pistol, returned to the house before dawn yesterday, saw Shaw sitting on a bed and fired at him through a window. Officers then quoted Reneau as saying he entered the house and fired at Shaw again.

COST-PLUS SYSTEM
IN GROCERY CODES

Minimum Price to Be Fixed
but No Maximum—Tugwell Features Killed.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—NRA codes covering wholesale, retail and manufacturing grocers with an annual business of $8,000,000,000 in more than 300,000 concerns have been completed and are ready for the President's signature. They specify that all goods must be sold at a minimum price covering cost, plus a certain percentage for overhead; otherwise there is no price fixing.
The codes were whipped into shape in 12 hours Saturday, after being kicked around in the Agriculture Adjustment Administration for five months. Both NRA and the grocers' trade organizations are said to be satisfied with them, now that some features of the Tugwell bill have been eliminated.
The codes precipitated the row between George N. Peek, AAA Administrator, and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. Peek won over Wallace in having them transferred to NRA, and finally approved without the Tugwell features Wallace favored.
NRA started a survey of the entire grocery business to determine what percentage must be added to cost of goods to cover overhead.
The general retail code calls for addition of 15 per cent. The grocers feel that seven and one-half per cent is ample in their case.
Pending the survey, grocers will be permitted to sell goods at actual original cost, or actual replacement cost, whichever is lower, without any overhead charge.
NRA officials described the plan to fix overhead charges as eliminating pernicious price wars and at the same time protecting the public against unnecessarily high food prices. They feel it will not prevent honest competition.
All provisions in the codes are subject, of course, to the President's final decision.

INQUIRY UNDER WAY IN ILLINOIS MINE KILLINGS

Prosecutor and Militia Observer Have Found Only One Witness Willing to Talk.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HARRISBURG, Ill., Dec. 11.—Against a background of intense bitterness, authorities proceeded today in an investigation of the street shooting Saturday night in Galatia, near here, in which a United Mine Worker and a Progressive miner were killed, the first fatalities of the mining controversy in Saline County.

An inquest has been deferred, Coroner James Lyons of Eldorado, announcing he will not conduct it until "the excitement has died down a little and witnesses are located who are willing to talk."

It was not until more than 24 hours after the fight, in which William Swain, president of the Provisional U. M. W. A. local at Peabody Mine No. 47, and Clyde Williams, a Progressive miner and writer of relief requisitions at Galatia, near here, were killed, that investigators were able to obtain an eye-witness account of the exchange of shots, although many persons were in the vicinity.

Wounded Man Won't Talk. J. L. (Red) Pitman, treasurer of the U. M. W. A. local, who was with Swain and suffered a bullet wound in the shoulder, is in a West Frankfort hospital.

As State's Attorney John Kane, and Maj. Kenneth Buchanan of Urbana, one of three National Guard observers here, were obtaining an account of a miner who stood 20 feet from the three fighting men, several shots were fired into Peabody Mine No. 45, which has been occupied only by a maintenance crew since the riot of Oct. 5, last, when about 20 persons were wounded.

The two investigators were told that Pitman hit Williams on the head, with brass knuckles. The Progressive fell, but "came up shooting," with Swain returning his fire. When the shooting was over Williams had two bullet wounds in his stomach, another in his left leg, a fourth in his jaw. Swain was shot four times in the chest and stomach.

Another Man Mentioned. Despite this account, given by a United Mine Worker, authorities have not relinquished the possibility that more men may have been involved in the shooting. Prentiss Williams, one of the sons of the slain Progressive, gave the investigators early today his father's 38-caliber police special revolver with its six shells discharged and told them that as his father was dying he named another man besides Swain and Pitman as his assailants. Williams died a few minutes after the shooting after staggering 50 yards to a filling station.

The other weapon has not been found. Deputy sheriffs found eight 38-caliber shells from an automatic pistol strewn about the street. A pair of brass knuckles lay there also.

Function of the National Guard in the investigation, Maj. Buchanan explained, is not primarily for prosecution but to develop motives for the shooting. Investigation already has established the manner in which the mining controversy has affected every walk of life in this community as well as pointing to imminent developments in the mining situation.

Two Had Been Drinking. A few minutes before the fight, Swain, it was learned, was endeavoring to recruit men to reopen Peabody Mine No. 47, closed for many months, with a U. M. W. A. crew. Both he and Pitman were active in trying to induce Progressives to return to "their original union. The two men had been drinking Saturday, it was learned, warning people to "get off the street" and ordering two farm boys, Wayne Byrd and Orval Gulsby, to go home.

Feeling between Swain, who also is a Republican, and Williams, a Democrat, was aggravated several days ago when Swain circulated a petition seeking to oust Williams as a writer of relief requisitions although he merely issued them without authority to select their recipients. The relief administration, which had appointed Williams last August on the suggestion of Galatia business men after U. M. W. A. adherents had objected to the previous requisition writer, declined to make another change.

Williams, who was a road commissioner, elected by the largest majority ever polled in Galatia for that office, was criticized also for the disposition of labor on works projects.

Interviewed this forenoon by Maj. Buchanan and State's Attorney John Kane, Pitman said Williams approached Swain and took him to task for circulating the pe-tion criticizing his relief activities. Pitman said that he struck Williams after the Progressive miner had called him a wife name, but denied he used brass knuckles. He said that he was unarmed and that Williams and Swain proceeded to shoot it out. No other persons were involved, he said.

Grim Economic Struggle. So grim has the economic struggle become in the coal fields, it developed today, that miners not only outnumber the number of mine jobs—even in prosperous times—but today are struggling to get road jobs or any kind of work.

Although 675 Saline County men have been put to work on Civil Works Administration projects and it is planned to employ a total of 1437, about 1500 men were on relief rolls today, it was estimated by Roscoe Colbert of Eldorado, executive secretary of the Saline County Emergency Relief Association.

Colbert estimated that "fully 75 per cent" of the men are miners, about evenly divided between the two unions. As has been told, U. M. W. A. officers here recently petitioned Gov. Horner alleging their men were discriminated against in assigning relief. Galatia is the only community in this county where U. M. W. A. members outnumber Progressives.

Sporadic Shooting Continues. Sporadic and aimless shooting has occurred throughout the county ever since Saturday's street fight. The usual rumors of invasions by miners from other counties have kept the miners here stirred up, many of them riding about the county roads near the county line. The majority of men are armed.

Many Progressives remained throughout the night at the home of Williams, near Galatia, while numerous United Mine Workers assembled at Swain's home, about two miles away.

Funeral services for Swain were held this afternoon at Galatia Methodist Church. Services for Williams, who is a Past Master of Galatia Masonic Lodge, will be held tomorrow morning at Brushy Church, near here. He is survived by his widow and eight children.

Severe Coughs
Relieved by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Big Saving! No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up severe coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively gives effective relief quickly.

From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made and you get four times much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and helps to heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a most astonishing way. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, one of the most reliable agents for relieving severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

If you had laundry or linen problems and worries caused by the lockout, it wasn't our fault. We did our best to give you 100 per cent service in every way from the very start. If we failed, in any way, it was because it was humanly and mechanically impossible to carry the tremendous burden thrown on our shoulders. We did not spare ourselves or expenses and we know you gave us credit for doing our very best.

Stick With the Laundries That Stuck by You

We are pleased to announce to our new patrons and friends of the past seven weeks that we are now in a position to give you the kind of laundry or linen service you want . . . the best at low prices. We believe, and we know you will agree with us, that we deserve your consideration. So we are asking you to stick with the laundries and linen companies that stuck by you when you really needed them. Patronize the laundry you know you can depend upon under every condition. Patronize the laundry that believes in backing the NRA to the limit . . . And also believes its employees are human and deserve to work under the proper conditions with a living wage.

Take a large sheet of paper, approximately 20" wide by 12" deep. Along the top of it draw ten circles, each the size of a penny. Along the bottom of the paper put ten real pennies. Now pick up the pennies one by one with your right hand and place them in the circles at the top of the page beginning at the left. Have someone time you. Average time is 12 seconds.

COAL MEN FILE COMPLAINT

Alleged Natural Gas Is Sold Below Cost to Large Users.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—The Illinois Coal Operators' Association yesterday complained to the Illinois Commerce Commission that natural gas companies in Chicago were selling gas below cost to large industries, thus discriminating against smaller users and forcing coal mines to shut down.

The complaint was filed by W. J. Jenkins, president of the association, and A. B. Steffens, chairman of a committee named to investigate the question. They filed the complaint as users of gas.

ST. LOUIS CONTRACT BRIDGE TEAM WINS

Defeats Centralia in National Association Elimination — Will Go to New York.

A St. Louis team defeated a team from Centralia, Ill., yesterday, in the regional contract bridge team-of-four tournament, and won the right to represent the district in the national bridge championships to be played in New York in January.

The play, at the Gatesworth Hotel, was one of the national elimination contests of the United States Bridge Association. The winning team was comprised of A. E. Stein, Alvin Novak, Raymond Coffman and Earl Ochs, with Walter Stern as alternate. They defeated the strong Centralia team, which is composed of Jean Gerold, John Parish, George Lock and D. B. Perrine. The two teams in the finals had survived three days of tournament play in which seven teams had started.

On the two final hands the St. Louis team won decisive victories. The first of the two, played at four spades doubled, was played by Stein and Ochs who, though the contract was defeated, held their loss to 500 points on the hand, by a clever play, while their Centralia opponents, playing the same hand at the other table, were being set 2000 points by Coffman and Novak.

The last hand was played by Stein and Ochs at six trumps, doubled, which they made by brilliant playing, while their opponents playing the same hand against Coffman and Novak, bid only three trumps and made five.

The St. Louis region which they will represent in the national championships, comprises Missouri and parts of Illinois, Kansas, Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

DECLARES THE BANKING CODE GIVES STRUCTURAL STRENGTH

Ronald Ransom of Atlanta, Ga., Deems It Most Effective for Desired Result.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Ronald Ransom of Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the Banking Code Committee, said yesterday that there had been set up under the bankers' code "the machinery to bring about the desired condition of co-operative sound banking on a nationwide scale."

"I do not believe that any more effective measure for banking improvement could be devised," he said.

Ransom declared that with 322 bankers' groups completing drafts for fair trade practices for their localities, and more than 600 clearing houses and other bankers' organizations co-operating along lines made possible by the code "a new element of structural strength is being rapidly built into the banking situation."

He announced that President Roosevelt had appointed A. D. Whiteside, division administrator of the NRA, to the Banking Code Committee, which represents the American Bankers' Association.

To date 322 rules of fair trade practices have been received from 27 states. They become effective Dec. 31.

ILLINOIS WORKERS' ALLIANCE FORMED AT STAUNTON MEETING

Increased Wages and More Relief for Unemployed Urged by Speakers.

By the Associated Press.
STAUNTON, Ill., Dec. 11.—A group of working men from 14 Illinois counties yesterday organized the Illinois Workers' Alliance, designed to further higher wages, relief for unemployed and other projects for workers, both employed and unemployed. The leaders insisted the ultimate aim was "nothing short of a co-operative commonwealth."

Counties represented were: Cook, Lake, Du Page, La Salle, Perry, Marion, Fayette, Randolph, Bond, Christian, Macoupin, Madison, Fulton and Clinton. The two-day meeting was presided over by Karl Borders of Chicago, chairman of a workers' committee there.

The aims of the organization were outlined by speakers as follows: Payment of 60 cents an hour for unskilled labor and $1.20 an hour for skilled labor on all Public Works Administration projects, with no discrimination toward any group; making the Federal slum clearance and housing plans non-profit enterprises; making the Civil Works Administration more permanent in character; raising wages of Civilian Conservation Corps workers; and payment of veterans' bonuses out of money now spent for armaments.

TWO EX-CONVICTS ARRESTED AFTER JUDGE GETS THREATS
Justice Department Men Charge Prisoners With Attempted Extortion at Ripley, Miss.

By the Associated Press.
RIPLEY, Miss., Dec. 11.—Two ex-convicts were jailed by Department of Justice agents yesterday on charges of using the mails in an effort to extort $18,000 from Circuit Judge T. E. Pagram of Ripley. They were identified by W. A. Rorer, Chief of the Birmingham office of the Department of Justice, as Nathaniel Richardson, 45 years old, and Mark W. Spencer, 28.

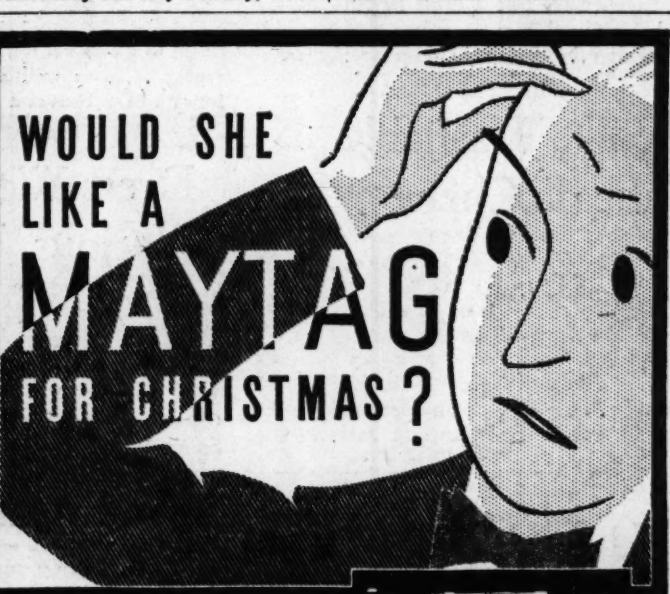

Judge Pagram received a series of threatening letters demanding money under the threat of death. On Oct. 30, after a bomb was thrown at Judge Pagram's house, but it caught in the branches of a tree and did no damage.

BODY OF MAN APPARENTLY KILLED BY AUTO IDENTIFIED

William L. Bennett, 41, Was Found Fatally Hurt in Alley Saturday Night.

The body of a man, killed by an automobile, found Saturday night in an alley in the rear of 3881 Washington boulevard, was identified yesterday as that of William L. Bennett, unemployed carpenter and World War veteran, 905 South Boyle avenue.

He had suffered fractures of the skull, left leg and ribs. Police considered at first he might have been struck elsewhere and taken to the alley. A coroner's jury today concluded from the nature of his injuries that he had been struck by an automobile. Members of his family said he frequently visited in that neighborhood, having formerly resided at 2892 Delmar boulevard.

Identification was by his brother, Jack Bennett, who resides at the Downtown Y. M. C. A.

Bennett, 41 years old, served in the Marines during the war. Surviving are two daughters, Madeline, 13 years old, and Wanda, 11. They live in Dallas, Tex., with their mother, who was divorced from Bennett. Three sisters, three brothers and his mother also survive.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Kriegerhauser Chapel, 4104 Manchester avenue, with burial in the National Cemetery, Jefferson Barracks.

FLOODS IN WASHINGTON STATE

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 11.—Twenty or more Western Washington cities and towns had the highest flood waters in years swirling about and through them today. Hundreds of families were marooned, or were carried to safety in boats, but no verified reports of deaths had been obtained. Thousands of acres of land were under water.

For nearly a week rain has been falling, drenching the area and melting snows in the Cascades. In 48 hours at Longview, 4.77 inches of rain fell, and at Aberdeen 14 inches fell in the first 10 days of the month.

DAVID KREYLING, LABOR LEADER 50 YEARS, QUILTS

Resigns as Secretary of Central Trades and Retires Due to Health.

David Kreyling, who fought the battles of organized labor for more than 50 years, announced his retirement yesterday on the occasion of the annual election of officers of the Central Trades and Labor Union, a group he helped organize in 1887. In relinquishing the salaried position of secretary-organizer of the Central Trades, a position he held continuously for 33 years, "Dave" told his followers "it is physically impossible for me to continue."

Seventy-four years old, he underwent a serious operation last April and has not fully recovered.

Kreyling was succeeded by William M. Brandt, another veteran of the labor movement, and, like Kreyling, a member of the Cigar Makers' Union. Brandt, 65 years old, nominated Kreyling for the office of secretary-organizer of the Central Trades in 1900.

Only twice was Kreyling opposed for election during his long period in office. An intimate of the late Samuel Gompers, he was a fiery organizer in his earlier days. An apprentice cigar maker at the age of 12, he was president of the Cigar Makers' Local Union 44 at 20. In 1891 he was elected first president of the Missouri State Federation of Labor, which he helped to organize. He served three terms as president of the Central Trades before becoming paid secretary.

The Central Trades and Labor Union was organized with 85 local unions, having a membership of about 15,000 union workers. Its present enrollment is about 80,000 members in 186 local unions, making it the largest central labor body in Missouri.

Brandt, who is secretary-treasurer of Cigar Makers' Local 44, has spent 47 years in organized labor endeavor. A resident of St. Louis since 1893, he is a former vice-president of the Central Trades and on three occasions was a delegate to American Federation of Labor conventions. When it became necessary for Kreyling to enter a hospital last April, Brandt was selected as acting secretary. The duties of the office have increased far beyond past requirements with the organization of many new unions under the NRA.

INCUBATORS GO TO COURT

Take Up Most of Space Before United States Appellate Judges.

When the black-gowned Judges of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals took the bench in the Federal Building this morning, they were confronted by two huge wooden boxes occupying almost the entire space ordinarily reserved for spectators and witnesses.

The boxes, it was learned, were electrically heated chicken incubators installed so that attorneys arguing a patent suit appeal might better demonstrate their points. The appeal, set for tomorrow, is that of Sleepy Eye, Minn., in his infringement suit against E. H. Snow.

Reag left a note with his wife, saying he was leaving with Miss Holscher. She is the daughter of J. R. Holscher, who said she might be using the name, Helen Hewitt. Reag is described as about six feet tall.

Pierre Bonvalot, Explorer, Dies.
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Dec. 10.—Pierre Gabriel Edouard Bonvalot, famous French explorer, died yesterday at the age of 80. He was an officer of the Legion of Honor and had conducted special missions in Turkestan and Persia and explorations in Siberia and Abyssinia. He was the author of numerous books on his travels.

BILL ROPER, NOTED PRINCETON COACH, DIES

Went Into Politics After Success as Football Leader; 53 Years Old.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.—William W. (Bill) Roper, noted football coach, who taught Princeton eleven to make touchdowns of fumbles and then went into politics and business, died at the age of 53 yesterday after a two-month fight against infection. Robbed of a chance to enjoy realization of two of his most cherished goals—repeal of prohibition and legalization of Sunday sports in Pennsylvania. A militant member of Philadelphia's City Council for 14 years, Roper fought hard and long for both.

In that time, he led the Tigers to three "Big Three" championships. He left Princeton in 1909 and coached the University of Missouri eleven, winning the Missouri Valley championship. The next season found him back with the Tigers, however, and that year the team whipped Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth. He retired in 1930.

"Mr. Roper's death marks the passing of a vibrant personality," said Dr. Harold Willis Dodds, president of Princeton University. "In football he was a distinguished coach, zealous for the honor of the game. In public life he valued independence and courage above private ambition. His death is deeply mourned at Princeton."

Born in Philadelphia in 1880, Roper is survived by his widow and two children. His son, William W. Jr., was a member of this year's Princeton football squad and, like his father, played end. Funeral services tentatively have been set for Tuesday.

Violinist Killed in Fall.
NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Josef Waldman, 40 years old, a violinist formerly with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, was killed today in a fall from the window of his fifth floor apartment on West One Hundred and Sixty-fourth street. He lived at the apartment with his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Waldman, who told police he had suffered a nervous breakdown 11 years ago and had been ill ever since.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Nor-chairmen of the Public Affairs Committee of the Socialist party, said today a survey of Socialist sentiment showed opposition to inflation as a Government policy.

In a statement they said:

"Conceding that some advantage area, may temporarily result from ment expressed was that any good that would come of it would be more than offset by the disastrous consequences to at least three groups of the population: the civil service and wage and salaried workers, whose incomes are fixed;

the workers whose wages have been fixed by codes or collective agreements, and for whom readjustment would be delayed while the cost of living would leap; and those hav-to equalize the amount received by

2.—Reduction of the capital structure of all business and utilities affected with a public interest, which,
in effect, would include all business. The committee said this would be a form of liquidation of excess financial burden now borne by the nation.

3.—A capital levy, scientifically assessed and applied.

4.—Sharp increase of inheritance taxes, the income from which would be used primarily for the retirement of Government bonds.

5.—Government borrowing flationary measures already undertaken, would be a method of financ-

NORMAN THOMAS, SOCIALISTS OFFER INFLATION PLAN

Point Out Objections to Policy as Aid to Farmers, but Want Currency for Public Works.

FAVOR REDUCTION IN INTEREST RATES

Would Apply This to Mortgages and Federal Obligations—Also Propose Capital Levy.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Norman Thomas and Louis Waldman, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the Socialist party, said today a survey of Socialist sentiment showed opposition to inflation as a Government policy.

In a statement they said: "Conceding that some advantage to certain sections of the population, notably in the agricultural area, may temporarily result from a process of inflation, the sentiment expressed was that any good that would come of it would be more than offset by the disastrous consequences to the least favored groups of the population: the civil service and wage and salaried workers, whose incomes are fixed; the workers whose wages have been fixed by codes or collective agreements, and for whom readjustment would be delayed while the cost of living would leap; and those having savings accounts and insurance policies, most of whom are not wealthy and many of whom are not wealthy means of existence during old age and disability."

Alternative Plan Outlined. The statement of Thomas and Waldman said the few advantages that might be gained from inflation could be achieved by sounder methods without the dangers of inflation and made the following recommendations:

- 1.—That interest on all indebtedness, Government and private, including farm mortgages, be reduced by legislation to two or at the most two and one-half per cent of the amount received by the holder of the bond to the amount intended to be paid by the borrower at the time the obligation was incurred.
- 2.—Reduction of the capital structure of all business and utilities affected with a public interest, which, in effect, would include all business. The committee said this would be a form of liquidation of excess financial burden now borne by the nation.
- 3.—A capital levy, scientifically assessed and applied.
- 4.—Sharp increase of inheritance taxes, the income from which would be used primarily for the retirement of Government bonds.
- 5.—Government borrowing through bond issues, "which is inflation, coupled with other inflationary measures already undertaken to justify a policy of financing the public works program, which the next Congress may have to enlarge by the issuance of currency instead of bonds—a method of financing more honest and more burdensome."

Bullitt stepped from a private car attached to the regular Moscow train as a light snow fell. He was greeted by L. A. Davilkovski of the Russian Foreign Office, who accompanied Foreign Commissioner Litvinoff to the conferences with President Roosevelt at Washington.

Bullitt Expected to Return to U. S. in About Two Weeks to Recruit Staff. By the Associated Press. MOSCOW, Dec. 11.—United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt arrived in Moscow today. Over the National Hotel, where he will have temporary headquarters, flew the American flag. Bullitt took off his hat in salute to the flag as he alighted from his automobile at the hotel.

Bullitt was accompanied by his 8-year-old daughter, Anne; Joseph Flack, First Secretary of the United States Embassy in Berlin; Keith Merrill, the State Department's Embassy construction expert, and George Kennan, Russian-speaking secretary.

As another means of increasing the revenue there are pending four bills which it has been estimated would virtually treble the inheritance tax collections. The Tax Commission has estimated the present law will produce $1,250,000 a year. If trebled the amount would be $3,750,000, of which one-third would go to the schools, leaving $2,500,000 for relief and State purposes. Inheritance taxes are a most dependable source of revenue, however.

If the highest estimates on these two taxes, liquor and inheritance, should be accepted, the total new revenue would be a little in excess of $5,000,000 for State and relief purposes, which in the opinion of Relief Director Crossley lacks several million dollars of being adequate to meet the needs.

Crossley has estimated that not less than $5,000,000 will be required from the State for relief work alone in the coming 12 months. The additional revenue which would come if the inheritance tax bills were passed would just about meet the deficit in the general revenue fund.

ST. JOSEPH JUDGE URGES JURORS TO INDICT LYNCHERS

Says Every Man Active in Mob That Hanged Negro Is Guilty of First Degree Murder.

By the Associated Press. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Dec. 11.—Judge J. V. Gaddy in Criminal Court here today told the grand jury called to investigate the lynching of Lloyd Warner, 19-year-old Negro, Nov. 28 that every leader of the mob, whether he helped break down the jail or placed the noose around Warner's neck, is guilty of murder in the first degree and should be indicted.

After naming Henry Krug, chairman of the board of directors of the American National Bank and president of the Public Library Board as foreman of the grand jury, Judge Gaddy said in part: "Every man who was active in that mob is guilty of murder in the first degree and should be indicted. That applies whether he helped break down the jail, grabbed the prisoner, stabbed him, placed the noose around his neck, or set fire to the body."

Assails Moral Standards. "That lynching was not done by good, outraged citizens. It was done by men whose moral standards, you will find, are little higher than those of the man lynched. That lynching was murder, nothing but cowardly, despicable murder, and its motive was, as is every motive for murder, hate."

"Women are no safer in St. Joseph today by reason of this murder. And I want to tell you men of the grand jury that the Negroes of this community are as law-abiding as our white citizens. I am not offering a defense of the victim of the lynching. Perhaps he has no defense. If Buchanan County institutions are to exist there must be a complete investigation of this lynching."

Judge Gaddy told the grand jury not to waste its time finding whether Warner died from stabbing, hanging, or fire.

Answers Press Criticisms. The court took cognizance of press criticism of the delay in justice.

"Justice is not delayed in this jurisdiction," said Judge Gaddy. "It is true Warner changed his plea from guilty to not guilty. That was because of a strong intimation on the part of the court that the death penalty would be given. At the last term of court in this county there have been two life sentences, one for 25 years, one for 20 years, one for 12 years, and several for 10 years and one for eight years. Only one criminal case has been appealed to a higher court."

The grand jury will handle routine matters for four or five days to permit W. O. Sawyers, Assistant Attorney-General, to question more witnesses. Sawyers desires to interview 200 more persons before the grand jury presentation of the case begins.

RELIEF PROGRAM UPSET BY SALES TAX UNCERTAINTY

Decision on Rewriting of 1 Pct. Bill Awaits Return of Governor and Senate Leaders to Capital.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, A Staff Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 11.—The absence of Gov. Park and Senate leaders from Jefferson City over the week end in which Attorney-General McKittick held the Governor's proposed 1 per cent sales tax bill unconstitutional, has resulted in chaotic uncertainty as to how the Legislature will carry out its pledge to provide for unemployment relief through reaching 1 per cent untouched sources of revenue.

There is available today no information as to whether the sales tax is to be abandoned in view of the opinion of the Attorney-General, or whether an attempt will be made to write a new bill which will meet his objections. Undoubtedly conferences will be held when Senator Donnelly, majority floor leader, and others engaged in directing the legislative program return to the Capitol today, but until that time no definite course can be mapped.

Unless a sales tax bill is passed, the needs of unemployment relief and of the State Government, which faces a deficit of more than $2,000,000, will be dependent on two possible new revenue measures, both extremely uncertain as producers of the new liquor tax and a possible trebling of the inheritance tax rates.

No Dependable Statistics. While there has been much guessing among Legislators as to the amount the revenue fund of the State will be augmented by the liquor taxes, the fact is that there are no dependable statistics on which an estimate can be made.

Senator Casey, who is opposing the sales tax, said in a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee Wednesday that he believed the liquor taxes would amount to about $4,250,000 a year. Wallace Crossley, State relief director, said he doubted they would exceed $2,000,000.

In arriving at a figure in excess of $4,000,000 for liquor revenue, the opponents of the sales tax are "guessing" that Missouri will consume 1,500,000 gallons of hard liquor a year and that a tax of 80 cents a gallon will be paid on it. The 1,500,000-gallon estimate is arrived at by figuring that before prohibition about that amount was consumed in Missouri. On that basis "hard liquor" would produce a revenue of $1,240,000.

Tax Only on New Liquor. However, no consideration so far has been given to the fact that since the repeal of the eighteenth amendment liquor has been coming into Missouri by train, truck and airplane, and that the tax will not be paid on any liquor which is in the State at the time the new tax law becomes effective.

Attorney-General McKittick received an estimate Saturday that enough liquor had entered the State to cause a tax loss of about $1,000,000. While that figure may be far too high, if it is even approximately correct there will be little tax revenue the first year the liquor law is in force.

Bootlegging Possibilities. Also, there has not been taken into consideration the possibility that hundreds of bootleggers may continue in business, and that not nearly all the liquor consumed will pay the State tax.

In addition to the $1,240,000 from "hard liquor," the estimates have been that State licenses and the tax on beer and wine will bring the total to more than $4,000,000.

Even if this amount should be realized, and there are few except the uncompromising opponents of the Governor who expect it to even approach that figure, one-third would go to the public schools, leaving less than $3,000,000 for unemployment relief and for balancing the State budget.

As another means of increasing the revenue there are pending four bills which it has been estimated would virtually treble the inheritance tax collections. The Tax Commission has estimated the present law will produce $1,250,000 a year. If trebled the amount would be $3,750,000, of which one-third would go to the schools, leaving $2,500,000 for relief and State purposes. Inheritance taxes are a most dependable source of revenue, however.

RUMANIAN FOREIGN MINISTER BACKS TREATY OF VERSAILLES

Says Little Entente Is Against Revision; Declares Changes Would Start War.

By the Associated Press. KOSICE, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 11.—Nicholas Titulescu, Foreign Minister of Rumania, says that no change in the treaty of Versailles is desired by the Little Entente—Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Jugo-Slavia.

After a conference with Dr. Eduard Benes, Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia, he made a speech last night in which he said: "Inasmuch as there has been so much lying about this subject, it cannot be held against us if I proclaim in my name and in the name of Dr. Benes:

"Revision means war. I do not want war, but for that very reason I do not want revision. If someone wants revision and war we will not be intimidated and will be strong enough to repulse such an attack."

"Not one single centimeter of Little Entente land will be given up by us or won by force. Those who do not respect the will of the Little Entente—which means the will to preserve the inviolability of peace treaties—are brewing war."

FARLEY SEES PAUL-BONCOUR
Gives Roosevelt's Good Wishes to French Foreign Minister.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. PARIS, Dec. 11.—Postmaster-General James A. Farley had a chat with Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour today. The meeting was "unofficial" to the extent that Farley is on a vacation.

Farley recently called on Premier Mussolini, Pope Pius XI, and his former close political acquaintance, James J. Walker, ex-Mayor of New York. Today after visiting the Foreign Minister Farley said: "I conveyed the good wishes of President Roosevelt to the President of France and the members of the Government. I told him that President Roosevelt had an actual program which he believed would be salutary for the whole world. Paul-Boncour replied: 'I believe that is true.'

of the State and none of it would be available for relief work. If $4,000,000 should be derived from liquor, it would, after the school portion was deducted, lack $2,000,000 of being sufficient to meet Crossley's minimum estimate of the relief needs. If it should not exceed $2,000,000, it would be $4,000,000 short.

$7,000,000 Sales Tax Estimate. The Governor has estimated that the proposed sales tax would produce about $7,000,000 a year. He had not recommended an increase in the inheritance tax, but had counted on the sales tax and the new liquor revenue to care for the situation.

Crossley said today that emergency relief work expenditures now being made by the Federal Government had reduced the general relief demands temporarily, but that those expenditures would end Feb. 15.

"With the information available in my office," Crossley said, "it is impossible for me to reduce my minimum estimate of a need for $5,000,000 of State funds during the next 12 months. I hope the members of the Legislature will realize the amount which will be needed to carry out its pledge made to the Relief Administration in a resolution more than a month ago, and will permit nothing to stand in the way of providing the money."

RAIDS ON RUMANIAN FASCISTS LEAD TO RIOTS IN BUCHAREST
Shop Windows Smashed by Anti-Semitic Students; 3500 Arrests Made.

By the Associated Press. BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 11.—Nation-wide police raids on headquarters of the outlawed Fascist Iron Guard ended in pistol fights in various Rumanian cities and culminated last night in riots in Bucharest.

Anti-Semitic students smashed shop windows in the city's principal streets. A Police Commissioner was seriously wounded by Iron Guards who resisted a raid on the Bucharest headquarters.

Police made 3500 arrests, including that of the father of Corneliu Codreanu, leader of the Iron Guards, who escaped and is still being sought.

Documents and correspondence of the Rumanian Fascist group were confiscated and many weapons, including tear gas bombs, were seized.

The Official Gazette made public a Government decree outlawing the Iron Guards and excluding them from forthcoming elections. Gatherings of members were forbidden. The raids are being continued.

ARCHBISHOP WARNS ON EVILS OF SALOON
Says Prohibition Will Come From Its Grave If "Undertakers" Do Careless Job.

A warning against "rum shops" which might repeat the evils of the old saloon was given by Archbishop Glennon in his talk before the St. Vincent de Paul Society, at its annual business meeting in the Cathedral school hall yesterday.

"Prohibition is nearly dead," the Archbishop said, "and if the undertakers at Jefferson City do not do a careful job in burying prohibition it may come up out of its grave. It will, if there is not proper regulation."

"Prohibition is not dead in that we ought to discard all restraint. And for the young people growing up, we must try to limit the evils of intemperance. There must be proper control of this matter. Otherwise, what shall all the rum shops be? Places to attract the demi-monde, places for nests of criminals, where the drug the criminal now uses will be exchanged for the liquor he can get? I hope Missouri will lead in proper legislation so that the evils which led to the destruction of the saloon may not return."

The Archbishop spoke also of the pending child labor amendment to the Federal Constitution.

"None of us advocates driving children into factories and shutting their lives," he said, "but there is another side to this legislation. We have no right to concede, to the United States Government the right to regulate the lives of your children. You are responsible for their control and actions, and if you cannot keep their actions within the law, there is the police to take care of them."

Shop Windows Smashed by Anti-Semitic Students; 3500 Arrests Made.

By the Associated Press. BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 11.—Nation-wide police raids on headquarters of the outlawed Fascist Iron Guard ended in pistol fights in various Rumanian cities and culminated last night in riots in Bucharest.

Anti-Semitic students smashed shop windows in the city's principal streets. A Police Commissioner was seriously wounded by Iron Guards who resisted a raid on the Bucharest headquarters.

Police made 3500 arrests, including that of the father of Corneliu Codreanu, leader of the Iron Guards, who escaped and is still being sought.

Kansas City's New $3,000,000 Art Gallery

THE William Rockhill Nelson Gallery of Art at Kansas City, Mo., built at a cost of $3,000,000, dedicated and opened to the public today.

The art collection in the museum was made possible by a bequest of William Rockhill Nelson of about $12,000,000.

William Rockhill Nelson, publisher of the Kansas City Star. His home was razed to permit construction of the new building. Visitors included Lord Duven, London art dealer; Adolph Loewi, art dealer of Venice, and Edward A. Faust, president of the St. Louis Art Commission.

Nelson left the bulk of his fortune to provide the art building and purchase the masterpieces with which it has been filled.

The building cost $3,000,000. Nelson's gifts and bequests of his heirs for exhibits total $12,000,000. The museum has come into being full fledged, completely planned for its purpose. Not only has the world been secured for years by experts seeking art treasures, but the institution has assurance rather than fond hopes of funds for future purchase in perpetuity.

LA PRESTA RUNS 90 YARDS FOR A SCORE; JOHNSTON SUFFERS INJURY

Johnston Hopes to Play Sunday Against Green Bay Packers

"SWEDE" JOHNSTON of the Gunners suffered a sprained ankle in the game with the Chicago Stars yesterday and his physician said today that it was barely possible that he would be able to play against the Green Bay Packers next Sunday, provided Johnston has complete rest.

By James M. Gould.

Performing before their greatest crowd of the season—there were 10,991 fans in the Public Schools Stadium stands—the St. Louis Gunners yesterday won their eleventh victory in 14 games, their ninth in a row and made their point total for the season 297 to 48 for the opposition. Their opponents were the Chicago Cardinals, alias, for the occasion, the Chicago All-Stars and the score was 28 to 0.

There was no question as to the identity of the visiting players for most of them had played here before on college and all-star eleven. Present and playing were Moynihan, Yarr and Bray of Notre Dame, Dick Nesbit of Drake, Craighton and Ledbetter of Arkansas, Tinsley of Texas, Gordon and Kassel of Illinois, Lamb of Lombard and Engenbretsen of South Dakota.

So, whether or not the team played under the Cardinal name, it really was the Chicago National League combination and the Gunners are entitled to full credit for their victory.

La Presta Scores on Kick-Off.
Three of the Gunners touchdowns were made on cleverly-completed forward passes while the fourth resulted from a 90-yard run by Benny La Presta, the former Billiken star who took the Chicago kick-off opening the third period on his own 10-yard mark and completed the distance to the goal-line, aided by some wonderful blocking. Lamb, the Chicago safety-man and the only one who had a chance to get to the flying La Presta was beautifully blocked out by Mack Gladden.

Chicago's only score came in the final period when a substitute, Lebetter, caught and ran for a touchdown. Engenbretsen placed-kicked this extra point, Frahm place-kicking four in a row for the Gunners.

The Chicago team was outclassed on offense is shown by the first-down total—15 for the Gunners and only two for the visitors. The first quarter was scoreless. It was in this period, after about five minutes of play that Johnston was hurt on a fierce tackle by Lebetter. The crowd "got on" Lebetter and later, when that player was forced out by injury temporarily, appeared to think things had been evened up. Spudich, who had relieved Johnston, also was hurt. In the second period, the Gunners got going and scored early when Moore, from Chicago's 30-yard line, passed into the arms of Charley Malone in the end zone. Three minutes later, the Gunners again worked into Chicago territory and from the 25-yard line, Frahm passed to the useful Malone who ran for a touchdown.

La Presta's 90-yard run back of the kick off marked the opening of the third period. Benny, pulled down hard from behind as he crossed the line, was hurt on the play, but remained in action until relieved later in the game.

Passes Pave Way for Final Score.
Passes again paved the way for the Gunners' fourth and final touchdown. It came in the early stages of the final period, Moore passing to Workman for the score. As has been stated, Frahm converted all four extra point tries. Midway in the quarter, after the Gunners had stopped three Chicago plays, Bray heaved a long toss which Lebetter caught cleverly and carried for the remainder of the 60 yards to the Gunners' goal. Engenbretsen's place kick was good and the scoring was finished for the afternoon.

Next Sunday, the Gunners face the Green Bay Packers and, because of their great showing this season, should break all attendance records if favored by good weather. There will be no teams at the "Packers" being the "Packers" for St. Louis officials have the signed contract of Curly Lambeau, manager of the Packers.

Can Happen.

To circumvent that rule of the American Association forbidding the shifting of players by clubs with major league affiliations after May 15, the Cardinal organization might put a club in Columbus that would win the pennant before date.

Why, Here's Elmer!

OUR HORSEMEN on a summer's day,
Packed their grips and went away.
Some went east and some went west,
And some went over the cuckoo's nest.

The years rolled by till Notre Dame
Became hard-pressed to win a game
Then Elmer Layden was induced
To come back home again to roost.

hunt any kind of animals any where.

Which suggests the thought that the passing of the blind tiger in America should result in a marked reduction in the supply of snakes.

And continuing the zoologic train of thought we wouldn't be surprised to see Mickey Cochran turn from a White Elephant into a Tiger.

Ball Games.

THE curfew tolls the knell of parting day,
The stars give up their shining hordes;
The basket-ballers now are holding sway
While six-day bikers circle round the boards.

Now fades the oval pigskin from the site;
No longer on the field it may be found,

The student body gave a cheer
 And the Old Grads shouted "Look who's here!"
 And all the fighting Irishmen
 Are yelling, "Elmer's back again."

Seems So.

An old axiom of football seems to be "as the team goes so goes the coach. If they win he goes ahead.

But in its place now comes the soccer!
 Who kicks a ball that's absolutely round.

In bowling alleys and the billiard halls,
 Where many go their favorite game to play,
 The lignum vitae and the ivory

they lose he goes out.

Ida's Nose Eep Now From Bite.
(With apologies to Annie)

DAS' nose ain't 'Roman any more,
's not the classic beak it was before.
Which destroyed its graceful bend and Ida's nose ain't 'Roman any more.

MACFARLANE TOTALS 288 TO WIN FLORIDA GOLF TOURNEY

GULDAHL SLIPS ON FINAL ROUND TO FINISH WITH A SCORE OF 295

By the Associated Press.
CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 11.—Willie MacFarlane, erstwhile Scott plasterer, today possessed the $200 first place money of the "Ten Grand" Miami Biltmore open. Shading par by one stroke on the final 18 for a 72-hole total of 288, he came in four strokes ahead of the field, breaking free of a three-way tie on the fifty-fourth.

Runner-up was Johnny Revolta of Menominee, Mich., with a 292 to take the second position award of $125, while Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., and Tommy Armour of Chicago split third and fourth money for $87.50 each when they finished with 294.

Ralph Gulda of St. Louis, who, with Revolta, was tied with the winner at the fifty-fourth, blew up on the final 18 holes and finished tied with Al Watrous of Detroit with 295.

Johnny Goodman of Omaha led the Simon Pures with a 304 to win the Col. Henry L. Doherty trophy for the low scoring non-professional.

MacFarlane, 42-year-old Tuckahoe (N. Y.) professional, suffering from neuritis and playing in the tourney against his physician's orders, received a "big hand" from the gallery as he holed his ball with the 288th stroke.

MacFarlane hung up a new course record of 67, four under par, for the first day's 18. On the second 18 he slid back to the field with a 77, but recovered yesterday afternoon with a 71.

PRESIDENT'S MOTHER LED MARCH

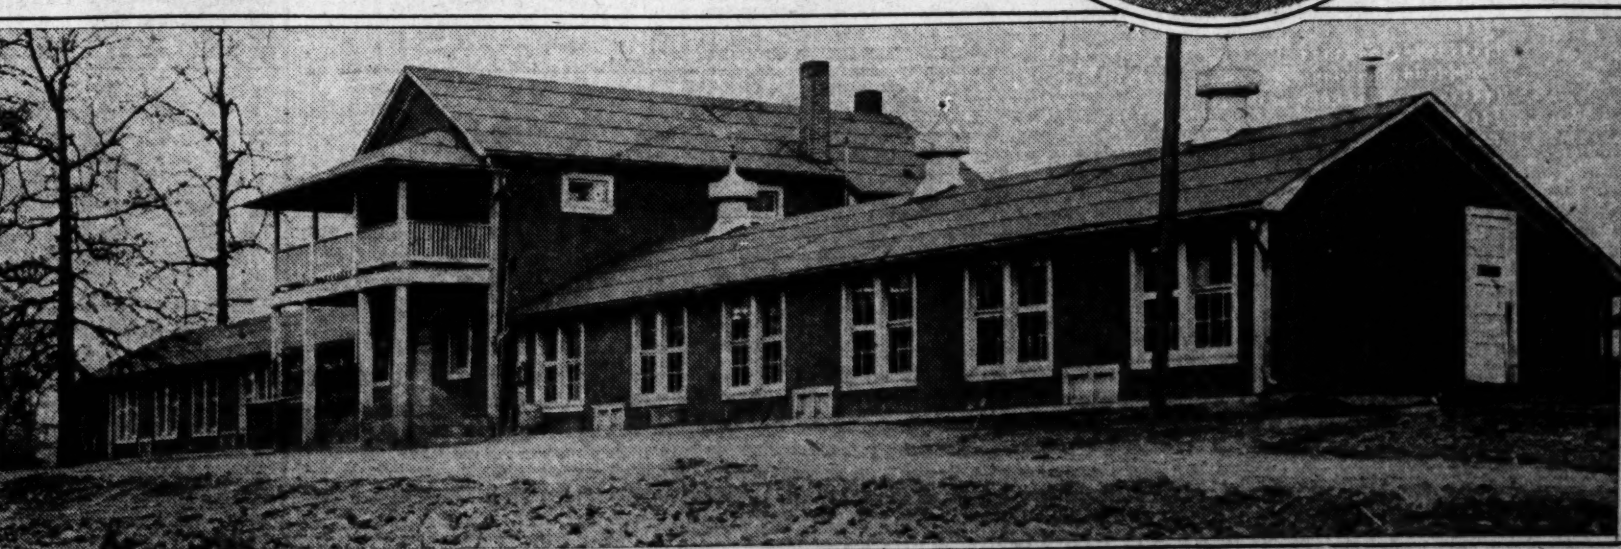

Miss Jane Hincks of Pasadena who has been chosen Princess of the Pacific to represent the Pacific Ocean in the annual tournament of roses on New Year's day. She is one of the seven beauties selected to be Princesses of the Seven Seas.

A real "blue eagle"—not dyed, although he had to die before Florence Rasmussen of Phoenix, Ariz., could get this chummy with him. Her employer, E. C. Stults, killed the eagle recently on a hunting trip, and found more than half of the bird's feathers were bright blue, a color for which ornithologists could not account.

Supper of pork, sweet potatoes, corn and bread pudding served the men in the transient camp.

One of the dormitories in the camp which was established by the Citizens' Committee on Relief and Unemployment. The dormitory, one of the three large buildings to be used, was formerly a poultry house.

A young newcomer dresses in. He has on a new pullover sweater, overalls, socks and shoes, and beneath he is wearing new winter underwear.

Christmas Toys to Make
A Talk on Etiquette

LISTEN, WORLD!

by Elsie Robinson

Do You "Think Poverty?"

I WAS blue this morning. Sick of everything. You know the mood? As if the pit were all worn off—and the stretch all out of the elastic. What was the use of going on?

And then I opened a letter—the hastily written note of a busy little woman in her hour off. She'd never met me. But something I had once written had helped a bit. And so she thought I might like to know how things had been with her for the last four years.

A desperate struggle—though she didn't put it that way. Yet between the lines, one could read the story of that old fear and agony. Widowed—left penniless with a baby in arms—what could she do? She did everything. Took chores you'd hesitate to offer to a passing tramp. Ate scraps. Wore rags. Slept in any corner she could find.

But all these handicaps were trivial beside a menace she carried in her own heart. "THAT POOR FEELING." Being poor didn't matter. But FEELING POOR—that mattered terribly! For that was the only thing that could really get her down.

Rags, poor food, a hard bed—why, she might have experienced those on any camping trip, and laughed them off as a lark. Then they wouldn't have mattered, because she would not have let them matter.

But—COULD SHE KEEP THEM FROM MATTERING NOW? COULD SHE FACE THEM NOW WITH A LAUGH? COULD SHE REMEMBER THAT THEY ARE JUST OUTSIDE?

THINGS WHICH DIDN'T COUNT, BECAUSE HER REAL LIFE WAS LIVED INSIDE, NOT OUTSIDE? Being poor? Oh, that was easy. Because that was just scenery. But feeling poor—that was deadly, because that got under one's skin. Had she the courage to keep it there? She had. She DID! There, in that simple letter, was the record of a great fight, a gallant victory. "It's all right now, Elsie," she said. "At first it seemed as if everything was over. There was the loss of my husband, who had served in the World War—then all my savings were wiped out in a bank failure—then my job went. I was terrified. But gradually I began to realize that it wasn't the various losses, themselves, that were beating me, BUT MY ATTITUDE TOWARD THOSE LOSSES. Fear—that was the thing I had to fight.

"I did fight it, I did overcome it. And now I rejoice because that ghastly fear of poverty can no longer possess me. I'm still as poor as ever—but I DON'T FEEL POOR. I KNOW NOW THAT WE ARE POVERTY STRICKEN IN ATTITUDE MANY TIMES WHEN WE HAVE MONEY AVAILABLE IN THE BANK.

"Today I am not a victim of poverty in my THINKING. I still have the same ability to enjoy the wonderful parks, municipal concerts available to the public at no cost to the individual, the privilege of a house of worship, opportunities to further education (Y. W. C. A. Leisure classes; public library; Public Schools), the fun of wearing remodeled clothing, utilizing wisely the food allotted to us, enhancing our drab apartment with colorful cretonnes and inexpensive yet lovely pictures. And lastly and the greatest joy of all, sharing the activities of my growing son.

"A great letter! I'll say! The medicine for what's ailing most of us. That 'poor feeling'—how often I've had it. At the crassest times! Not when I was really poor, with no shoe to my careless heel, no roof over my happy head. Many a day, then, I went hungry—and didn't give a darn. And then, contrariwise, when I've been sitting prettily, my soul has whimpered in rage!

"FEELING POOR"—there's the Big Bad Wolf that gets us all. But he'll never be able to huff 'n' puff and blow YOUR house down—as long as you can meet him with a grin!

HEALTH Sylvia Stiles Views the St. Louis Fashion Parade PARENTS

Confidential Talks With Mothers and Fathers.

Measure by Money

ACH season has its fashions in placement and arrangement of decorative touches which mark the modishness of a costume. One of the most pronounced illustrations of this is the new trend in flower adornment, especially for evening wear.

The old-fashioned corsage seems to be passing out of the style picture. In its place have appeared several distinctive ideas. For example, many St. Louis women have adopted the striking grouping of flowers in straight line across the top of the high cut front of a bodice. Gardenias or orchids are especially effective in this arrangement. Mrs. Walter L. Weidner was among those who appeared at the theater recently as a sponsor of the fashion. Her white crepe evening gown had a row of gardenias straight across the front neckline. The bodice was cut into a low V at the back and was broadened slightly by bias folds over the shoulders. The skirt was very fitted and had a short train. A bright red crepe giraffe was tied with long ends at the side. White crepe sandals were worn with this lovely dress.

Miss Alita Davis was noted on this same evening with a tiny red floral muff as an unusual complement of her black satin gown.

Many distinctive suit ensembles have been observed during the last few weeks. The dressier types frequently have combined a one-piece dress with a jacket while those of the more tailored variety have been accompanied by contrasting blouses.

OLD colored basket weave woolen was the striking fabric of an arresting suit which Miss Audrey Wrape wore at luncheon one day last week. This was of the three-piece style with turtleneck coat. An unusual square sailor collar of brown basket weave woolen extended down the back like a square cape to the waistline. Long ends at the front were tied Anot fashion. The sleeves were decidedly pointed. A narrow black belt with silver buckle, a black felt hat, tricorn in shape and black suede oxford shoes were her accessories.

Mrs. Joseph T. Davis, the new president of the Eighth District Federation of Women's Clubs, wore a most becoming frock of black crepe when she made her first official address to club members. The sleeves which were short and full, were adorned with vertical bands embroidered with cut steel and turquoise beads. The V neckline was gracefully draped. A high close-fitting hat of black felt with feathers adding height at the back and black suede pumps completed this costume.

Miss Beatrice Smith was seen in a smart gathering in a black velvet jacket frock. The top of the dress was of angel blue satin. It featured the high cowl neckline and full short sleeves. Long ties at the back of the neck were slipped through slits in the little jacket and tied in a bow. A black velvet close-fitting hat, stitched in an all over design and black suede pumps completed this ensemble.

Women have preferred suits to other types of costumes while doing their Christmas shopping. This was meant that chic accessories like playing an important role in the St. Louis fashion parade.

In a group of three well-dressed women lunching at a downtown store tea room was Mrs. J. H. Rehme. She had on a mannish two-piece suit of gray oxford cloth. The jacket was hip-length, the skirt straight except for kick pleats at either side. Her black crepe blouse had an Ascot tie. With this suit Mrs. Rehme wore a beret type of black stitched woolen hat with a black velvet bow across the front, black kid and gray suede pumps and a silver fox scarf.

Lunching at the same table were Mrs. William J. McGhee and her mother, Mrs. Henry B. Pauk. Mrs. McGhee's costume consisted of a brown rough woolen suit with three-quarter length coat, fitted at the waistline and having a handsome blue fox collar; a brown stitched fabric hat, trimmed with brown bows at either side and brown suede oxford shoes. Mrs. Pauk wore a black suit with full-length coat, collar with black Persian lamb, gray satin blouse with red composition buttons, black wool and velvet hat and black suede oxford shoes.

soning with salt and pepper and adding a lump of butter and half cup of cream. Pour into a buttered casserole and cover with a generous layer of sausage meat. Bake until the sausage is a nice brown.

With Christmas Coming Soon.

I HAVE written so much about the giving of presents and seeing cards at Christmas that now there is little need for me to repeat any further. The following questions, however, came in this morning's mail:

Dear Mrs. Post: Father and I are in mourning for my mother who passed away during the summer. May we send greeting cards to our friends this year? We don't feel that there is any reason to impress our sorrow on others by changing a family custom now.

Answer: This is a question to be decided by your own feelings. If you would like to wish happiness to others, there is no reason why you may not but you would naturally choose cards that express sentiments of friendship rather than those of grief.

Dear Mrs. Post: I want to send a Christmas greeting card to my fiancée's family, which consists of his father and his two sisters who all live together. How should I dress the envelope to include everyone if "and family" is in danger by those who care anything about best practice?

Answer: "And family" is merely unfashionable from the standpoint of etiquette; there is no deeper objection to it. It is something like the word "folks"—also not fashionable. In other words, if you want to be fashionable and worldly-wise then don't write "and family." But if they would say "Howdy folks," then "and family" would be suitable. Were I in your place I would send a different card to each, chosen to express a personal message. It is really amazing how the very thing you would like to say to almost anyone under almost every circumstance can be found with a little searching among the cards at almost any stationer's.

Dear Mrs. Post: Every year each person in our office gets a card from the boss' family. I can't simply, "The John Browns" would like to send a card to the Browns, but as I've never met Mr. Brown, would she perhaps think we were presuming?

Answer: It is always proper to send a card to Mr. and Mrs. Brown, whether it be Mr. or Mrs. whom you know.

THE correct use of money does not consist of being able to keep accounts or make change, or saving, nor even of generosity. It consists of a weighing of comparative values.

A child must be guided in the knowledge of these values while he is learning the mechanism of change and the practical and material aspects of the medium in use. He must decide what he wants in life and what relation money has to his desires; and it is in this basic undertaking of finding worthy aims and objects and applying his measuring stick that a certain amount of influence can be exerted by his parents.

Direct advice is of little help. Here, most of all, a child learns by example, and practice is better than precept. A child may be told again and again that money is not a worthy goal of life, that happiness does not depend on wealth, that money is responsibility.

If he is surrounded by people whose whole object and ambition in life is money, who measure success by wealth, who are always banking after the luxuries and beauties which wealth can give, and get no happiness from merely living and enjoying the small pleasures of every day, he will accept the facts as he sees them, not the truth as he is taught it.

For the moment the world is poor and is inclined to over-value money because of its lack. But when the world is rich it still over-values

More About the Two-Bid

THE last few articles, I have dealt on those situations which, on the least easy to handle, because no trump fit could be found.

Therefore, I have opened a new column, had to play for game in his own suit, trusting that the trumps would not be matted in one hand against him; while the slam angle receded to the background as a "probe bidding" could not be introduced to locate the critical king.

Under might, hold this king, but you were unable to carry on to slam. You were the worst first. Use things go very differently—the bid is essentially characteristic of the hand, so that in most cases a trump fit is found in good to allow any necessary probe by which, after the trump suit has been raised and thereby settled, been raised and thereby settled, the bidder must be prepared to let partner play the hand in his own suit.

In rubber play, he need not bid four spades over four hearts, but a probe bid in hearts, the next round, trying to locate the king for grand slam purposes, is, if you must have a certainty, most of us would bid it any. Even if partner denied the bid, you would be in the position of having to play in the responder's hand.

Let Your Partner Play the Hand at Three No Trumps.

With a K Q J x in clubs, your best bid is three trumps, as it may be easier to win nine tricks than ten. Your partner should pass unless he has a bid in spades and so can take what will thereby become the contract of four spades.

course, if your partner's response was two no trumps, you would have to play in his hand, as now the time will be against you in no trumps. They are likely to lead and lead them again when you get in with their red ace. You may also beat you in spades, you will have a better selection of playing resources and a better chance of making some use of the trump hand. In tournament play, you would be advisable to play the bid in spades, even if your partner's duty not to pass any below the game level.

An Obvious Inference.

You know all our slam bids are founded on the process of eliminating losers. When your partner makes a two-bid, there are very losers to eliminate. When you make a bid to a suit as your response and he raises your suit, you know that at least one and possibly two losers are eliminated. He could not have justification for his raise unless he had one or two losers in your suit. To raise, he must have at least three trumps. You one must be a loser, as could generally not have bid four either the king or queen—then if you have bid on a card suit lacking the queen or king, the fact that you have at nine trumps in the two hands will eliminate one presumptive loser from the opener's holding.

Now—Substituting an End Play for a Finesse.

Money, because of the widespread opportunities to make it.

Only in the home, by constant practice of moderation, of using money as a means, and not an end, and of giving it neither unduly respect nor yet scorn, can children absorb unconsciously the values which we desire to teach.

Party Frocks for the Younger Girls

DESIGNERS of girls' party dresses, St. Louis retailers, have been plotting together this season in an effort to encourage teen age fashionables to be their ages instead of trying to imitate their debutante sisters.

The tendency during recent years has been for school girls to attend dancing parties in frocks with long backs and such sophisticated details that both teachers and mothers have thrown up their hands in despair. Mary who was only 12 wanted to look like Jane who was 15, while Jane at 15 was determined to appear as much like Joan at 20 as possible. Dresses designed for their own ages didn't count. Nooses were lifted in the air and girlish themes were spurned.

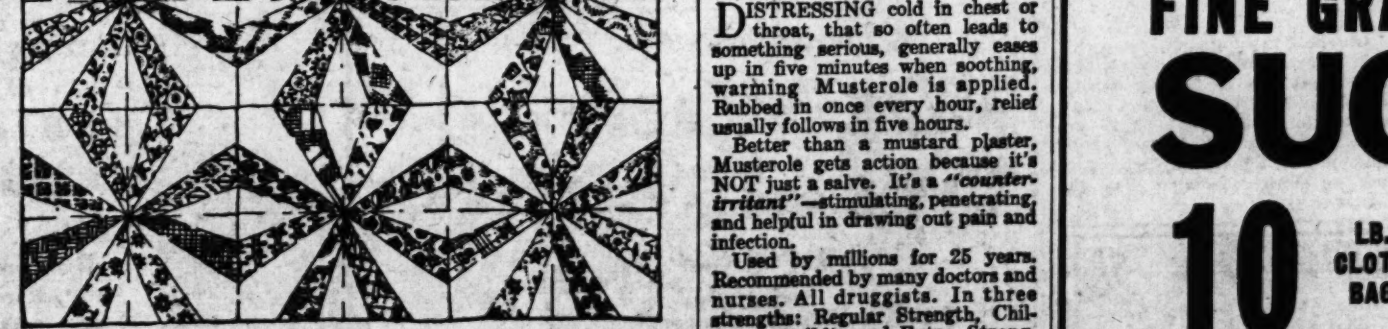

The girls weren't entirely to blame even though most of them did think so. Anyone who surveyed the collections of party frocks formerly featured in many of the stores would have to admit that there was some excuse for them being ignored in favor of more glamorous fashions. The same old "sixes and sevens" were dragged out when party dresses were asked for—one after another of those personal pastel taffetas with bouffant skirts and of those dumb-looking georgettes with ribbon bows and streamers placed where they had no business to be.

This season's party clothes are different, thanks to the conferences held at the beginning of the season between the retailers, the dancing teachers and the mothers. Designers were asked to co-operate with the result that St. Louis stores have carefully selected collections of lovely frocks which make a girl of 16 delighted to be only 16 while the girl of 10 doesn't mind the fact that she hasn't entered her teens.

The newest collections include more of the Sunday-night type of dresses than the formal variety of evening fashions for girls between the ages of 13 and 16. Shoulders are covered, necklines are modified and skin bone length is the accepted favorite. Taffeta continues its leadership among fabrics but it is a different looking taffeta from former seasons. New colors have a better appeal than the pastels which many girls looked upon as inspired and baby-like. Lovely shades of green, for example, are much used with shades of gold metallic ribbon to suggest a grown-up theme. Nets and crepes likewise are presented in new colors, the nets showing a trend toward dark shades. Feathers are being used extensively as trimming and they add a note of sophistication which makes up for the lack of bare shoulders and backs.

Younger girls from 7 to 10 years old seem to be easier to persuade that simple clothes are better even for dancing schools. Perhaps this is because mothers have not released their guiding hands to such an extent as they have for older daughters. Some of the best dressed St. Louis girls are wearing dainty piques and other cottons to dancing school and looking more

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Mrs. Carr:

ANY member of the Music Fraternity, Sigma Alpha Iota wishing to get in touch with the chapter here will please call Colfax 7029 or write a note to Dorothy Drews, 2108 Harris avenue. Meetings are being held very first and third Tuesdays at various homes. So far we have only 11 members.

Thank you very much, Mrs. Carr. I noticed that you had several inquiries about this in your column, which, evidently, is proving an invaluable source of getting and distributing information. DOROTHY DREWS.

My dear Mrs. Carr: THE young mother who signed herself "Anxious" in your column, called today for the typewriter. She brought her husband and baby too. They seem very nice and are deserving of help. I trust she can get some good out of the typewriter.

Fortunately I had on hand a dressed doll which I gave to the little girl. I wish them success and prosperity.

May I pause to compliment you for the very fine work you are doing. Sincerely, K. H. B.

I am so glad you wrote and thus have given me the opportunity to thank you in the column as well as personally, for generously offering the typewriter. And I do think it very kind to give the little child the doll. I haven't heard from the young woman, as yet, but will let you know when I do. You are good to commend my work.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I HAVE been going with a girl for six months and she is getting serious. She thinks we are to be married Dec. 23, but sometimes I don't think I love her. She is already planning her trousseau and her family is expecting it to take place.

My family is not in favor of the marriage because she is of a different religion, and she said that she would not marry me if she had to belong to my church to do so. Don't you think that if she loves me as much as she says she does she will change her religion?

How could I break up with this girl without hurting her feelings if she doesn't intend to change to my religion. I AM TROUBLED.

Yes, I think you have given it the right name. But who brought the trouble upon you? The girl probably cares a great deal for you and you have been flattered and have followed the line of least resistance.

She couldn't have planned all this by herself, exactly. But right now you would better stop shifting; and if you are going to allow your family to dictate to you, you'll always be in hot water.

The only many thing is to face the facts and be honest with the girl about it—if you can make up your mind. She doesn't have to join your church.

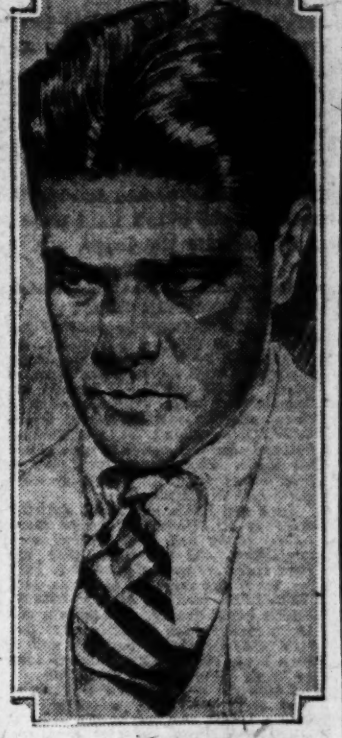

Dear Mrs. Carr: I AM making myself a black dress, with an egg-shell satin bib front. I am sending you a sketch. I had planned to use red buttons on it, but am a little undecided. Will you suggest some other kind to use? Please answer as soon as possible. M. E.

I think you would like metal buttons, bright or dull silver, very much better than red. The design is very pretty and ought to make you an attractive frock.

PAUL KELLY...he has made a come-back.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10. ALMOST any day, when there is nothing else to talk about, you will hear that the Marx Brothers Four—Groucho, Chico, Zeppo and Harpo—have a mad on at Paramount and they're leaving. The four comedians are staying on at Paramount and they will do a new type of musical comedy, a musical revue specially written for them. And, most important of all, Ernst Lubitch is being urged to direct them.

Benevenuto Cellini will be brought to the screen by Fredric March. Darryl Zanuck had originally intended to immediately star March in "Les Miserables" but because so many of the scenes must be filmed out of doors he has decided to make "The Affairs of Cellini" first. Bess Meredyth has started work on the adaptation which will be a combination of Edwin Justus Mayer's "Firebrand" and the autobiography of Cellini.

A little dangerous, I know, to put Charles Chaplin on record for any movie idea before it is half way finished. Yet, Charlie has confided to a few of his friends that he will make a modified version of "The Kid," his most popular picture. Paulette Goddard will play a grown-up gamine role. All signs point to the first of the year as the starting date of the next Chaplin comedy.

My admiration to Paul Kelly. He has come back and he has made good. Most men who serve a sentence in prison change their names and disappear from view. Not Paul Kelly. He went to New York and made good on the stage, he came out here and did a grand piece of work in "Broadway Through a Keyhole," and now he has been borrowed from Twentieth Century

The Great Plan

"I THOUGHT," said Willy Nilly, "that instead of writing letters to Santa Claus this year we would go to see him."

"Cock-a-doo-dle-do," crowed Top Notch, the Rooster, "wouldn't that be wonderful? Santa will want to give me fine presents when he sees what a handsome Rooster I am."

"Don't be vain, Top Notch!" quacked Mrs. Quacko Duck. "But no one else noticed Top Notch's remark, and Mrs. Quacko soon forgot it, for all they could think of was that they might be going to see Santa Claus."

"Caw, caw," said Christopher Columbus Crow, "that will be the greatest treat in the world!"

"Bow-wow-wow," barked Rip, the Dog. "I'll be perfectly happy if only Santa strokes me, and tells me I'm a good dog."

"Peep, peep, cheep, cheep," said the little Chickens, "we're going to see Santa Claus, chick, chick, hooray!"

"Quack, quack," quacked all the Ducks, "we're going to see Santa Claus, quack, quack, hooray!"

And all the animals crowded and quacked and barked with delight.

"How are we going?" Top Notch asked.

"I have this plan," said Willy Nilly, "and you must all go to bed very early this evening so I can work it out." The little man was always planning for his animal friends.

"You don't think there's really any doubt that we'll go, do you?" asked Christopher.

It was certainly hard to go to bed without knowing for certain. Tomorrow—Letter to Santa.

MAYOR DICKMANN FOR BOND ISSUE OF $13,300,000 provided Real Estate Will Not Have to Bear More Than Half the Cost of Improvements.

MUNICIPAL POWER PLANT INCLUDED

Electricity Therefrom to Be Used for Lighting All Streets and Municipal Buildings.

Mayor Dickmann announced today he favored submission of a bond issue for a $17,750,000 program public improvements, with the cost of Federal public works funds, not more than half the cost of the bonds would be borne by real estate.

The amount of the bond issue suggested by the Mayor would be, roughly, about one-third of the total cost, or about $13,300,000. The balance would be sought in grants from the Public Works Administration, amounting to 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials.

Ordinarily real estate bears about 60 per cent of the tax burden. The Mayor suggested a city sales tax to be adopted to pay the rest of interest and sinking fund for bonds. City Councilor Hay suggested a sales tax would be legal. A decision has been reached as to any other new form of taxation.

Proposed Improvements.

The improvement program proposed by Dickmann and Hay follows: New hospital construction to supply badly needed facilities, $300,000. Municipal electric plant to supply current for lighting all streets and all municipal buildings, $4,000,000. Erection of war memorial building on Memorial Plaza and beautification of the plaza, $2,000,000. Completion of all interior facilities of Municipal Auditorium, $200,000. (Present funds are insufficient.)

Elimination of railroad grade crossings, in addition to a group already proposed, $1,000,000.

Construction of about 84 pedestrian underpasses beneath heavily traveled streets, $1,000,000. Applications for FWA Funds. The city has prepared for filing with the FWA tomorrow an application for a $2,124,000 grant for a initial construction program to $5,730,000. This is in line with Mayor's proposal, except that cost is somewhat greater. It was for $6,806,000 to be provided by the bond proposition.

The bond proposition would be submitted to the voters next April. Large number of buildings at St. Louis Hospital, St. Louis Training School for the Feeble Minded, City Hospital, City Hospital, City Jail and Isolation Hospital would be erected and equipped. Application also was filed with FWA today for a $325,000 grant for additional grade crossing eliminations, and a $275,534 grant for the pedestrian underpasses, subject to the passage of the proposed issue. Still another request was for a $130,500 grant for eliminations of new wipers and grounds, to be augmented by $400 from old bond funds.

Mayor Dickmann's announcement was made at a conference with a number of the Building Trades Union, which presented a demand for submission of a bond issue at the earliest possible date for a $10,000,000 program of municipal improvements. The council also agreed erection of the proposed new office and much public school construction, making its total program, $58,200,000.

Willing to Share Burden. The $20,000 members of the Building Trades Council are property owners, but are willing to add a tax for bonds to "help bring prosperity," Secretary Church said. The other members are, indirectly, bearing the tax burden, he added. The executive resolution had pledged the support of the council membership bond issue, saying about 15,000 men are unemployed and are demanding work instead of charity.

Letters urging support for the proposal, including copies of resolutions, are being sent by council to civic and commercial organizations.

The regular meeting of the council tomorrow night at Unity Hall, the public works scheme will be made a special order of business, with the intention of taking
